

the faster you run from the tower, the farther you go before hitting the surface of the Earth with enough speed you could “fall” around the Earth; you would be in orbit.