

Adding pillows increases
the height at first ...

+

... but eventually compresses
the stack making the density greater rather increasing the height.

Similarly, adding mass to a Jovian planet eventually will increase its density rather than its size.
Adding mass makes the object smaller!